It is one of the best known works in Jain literature, to show the importance of Navpad (nine padas) and the importance of worshipping them and practicing their teachings in one's day to day life in order to attain liberation from this mundane world.

Each pada of the Navapada is accompanied by an artistically rich pictorial depiction drawn from the best libraries, institutions, temples and private collections, in India. The beautiful margins and borders with which the verses have been decorated have been taken from manuscripts which mainly date back to the 16th century, CE. These magnificent illustrations, some of which are being released for the first time, constitute a rare and extraordinary collection of Jaina art, the finest available to date.
